

It is unbelievable how the public airways are abused. The political process has taken them hostage. The FCC must step in at some point and clean up the garbage we call news. We need to go back to the days where there was truth in broadcasting and hold some of these people responsible for what they say. We may have avoided a war if we had just had responsible broadcasting. I for one do not rely on broadcast news for reporting facts. I have moved to the internet for my news where at least I can check the facts. As for Sinclair broadcasting this is an outright abuse of public airways and they should be held to account to the American public.
